Kebesen Village, Kebesen Sub-district, Banyumas Regency.

As a graduate of Information Systems from Telkom University Institute of Technology in Purwokerto, I possess valuable skills in backend development. My experiences, both from employment and internships, have forged a strong foundation in the world of web development.

With a keen interest in the developer community and a strong focus on backend development, I have honed my technical skills through various projects, both individually and within teams. The combination of solid academic knowledge and deep practical experience fully prepares me to make meaningful contributions in creating innovative web solutions.
